Full Stack Web Developer with a passion to make a positive difference in people's lives through code. With experience In Ruby on Rails, JavaScript, and React Native, I discovered web development through my curiosity to understand how websites work. I'm a fast learner. Having arrived in the United States from Serbia without knowing English, I was speaking the language within a few months and utilizing it fully in my first job. I bring strong skills in problem-solving, creativity, and strategic thinking.
